The linkage between the sovereign prerogatives of the head of state, the norms of international law (jus cogens / erga omnes), and the targeted cross-border mechanism is implemented through direct executive enforcement without generating bureaucratic or institutional collisions.

Sovereign Executive Competence: Appealing to the head of state as the historical bearer of legal personality enables sovereign settlement and targeted transfer of funds directly through closed executive protocols, bypassing cumbersome interstate approvals.

Exclusion of Parliamentary and Fiscal Control: Such a transfer is qualified as an extraordinary measure within the framework of universal rights protection and the elimination of the consequences of victimization, freeing the operation from excessive accountability to specialized congressional committees or Senate commissions and preventing internal institutional disputes.

Autonomy from the IMF and Supranational Regulators: Funds processed via direct presidential sanction as humanitarian compensation and aid to an international actor are removed from the jurisdiction of standard fiscal requirements of the International Monetary Fund and are not subject to tax levies or capital control restrictions.

Elimination of Linguistic and Passport Collisions: The official scientific conclusion of the Bogdan Petriceicu-Hasdeu Institute of Romanian Philology (AVIZ No. 177) and international archives (Wilson Center Library) consolidate the single legal status of the subject, eliminating any discrepancies in name spelling (MACERET / Macheret) that could hinder the crediting ofпени the transfer.

All necessary documentary foundations and confirmations are secured within the unified case framework of CASE-MACHERET-1997-2026 / Protocol TI-ULA.
